

Leading Nonprofit Organizations (LNO) Online Newsletter
Content Submission Release Form

Name: _____

Submission: _____

Your article should add value for practitioners in the nonprofit sector who are looking for good information and insights in the field of nonprofit leadership.

We are particularly eager to include original content that is not already published in various venues on the Internet. We will let you know if your article has been accepted for inclusion in one of our forthcoming issues. If you don't hear back from us, it will likely be put on file for possible future inclusion. If your article is chosen, you will be receiving a lot of good exposure with a highly targeted audience. Please see the full Submission Guidelines for typical length of submissions.

When making a submission to Leading Nonprofit Organizations (LNO) you will retain your full copyright. You may include a copyright notice in the credits to the article if you so desire.

By submitting your article to LNO, you agree to the following:

- You have the right to send this article and you are not infringing the rights of any third party.
- You will not receive any form of compensation from Case Western Reserve University in exchange for the article.
- Submission to LNO does not in any way guarantee that it will be published on the site.
- The editors may delete a submission at any time, without any notice to the author.
- By providing a submission to LNO you give reproduction rights to LNO and to other sites and publications, provided your submission is published in full and that your full author credits, copyright notice and live link details are retained.
- LNO reserves the right to make minor edits to a submitted article, or text associated with a video or podcast file, such as to correct punctuation and grammar, and also to reformat articles that use a separate paragraph for each sentence.
